Illinois Protests

Antiwar demonstrations on Illinois college campuses tapered off Friday and remained peaceful.

Students at Northern Illinois University in De Kalb announced a campaign to distribute petitions against the Vietnam war and forward them to elect representatives.

Earlier at NIU, a group of students had anchored several dozen balloons in a scenic lagoon as symbols of the mining of North Vietnamese harbors.

Officials also announced a barricade used to dam the lagoon as opened during the night, half emptying it, but doubted students were responsible.

Southern Illinois University in Carbondale remained quiet after authorities used tear gas Thursday night to disperse demonstrators who refused to obey a city-imposed curfew.

Fifty-nine persons were arrested at SIU and most of them were charged with curfew violations.

Some 40-50 students at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston scattered leaflets at an intersection on the campus trying to stop traffic, but no incidents were reported. Two cars were stopped in an effort to further disrupt traffic but were removed on police orders, authorities said.

No Nixon Trip Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Nixon's Moscow trip only a week away, the White House was unable Friday to give out any details—not even a firm departure time.

The situation was highly unusual for a presidential foreign trip of this magnitude.

Hanging over the summit Soviet meeting in recent days was the shadow of Nixon's decision to mine Haiphong harbor and cut off supplies to the North Vietnamese. The Soviet Union is a prime supplier.

Fears diminished by week's end, however, that the Soviet Union would cancel the summit talks. An especially hopeful sign was Thursday's cordial visit at the White House between Nixon and Soviet Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai Patolichev and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

But there appeared to be technical difficulties holding up the usual preparations.

White House spokesmen repeatedly told reporters "the planning is proceeding." A White House technical team now in the Soviet Union to make advance arrangements for such things as communications, hotel accommodations, Secret Service protection and other details was said to be "proceeding with its work."

'You Kil A Tarkey'

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Looking for a special recipe for Mothers Day dinner? First-grader Scotty Glasscock suggests the following for "tarkey"—turkey to growups:

"You kil a tarkey. Glt the hair off the tarkey. Then put it in the stove and leave it for 2 o'clock. Take out of the stove. Then it is dan."

Scotty is one of 22 children in Mrs. Paul Morgan's first-grade class at Rich Fond School. The youngsters each contributed a recipe for a Mothers Day cookbook, edited by Mrs. Morgan who wrote in the preface: "Only a few words have been changed to protect the reader."

The 26-page book is titled "Adventures in Good Eating???"

Among the recipes is one supplied by Philip Hess for "specky"—spaghetti.

"You buy specky sticks. You put them in a pot. You set them on the stove. You put a lid on the pot. You keep it on stove for 1 hour. While it is cooking you put speskey sos (sauce) on the stove.

"You let it sit on the stove for an half hour," he continues. "Then you put it on the table."

Roderick Lowery suggested "Fat Chicken."

"Just cook 40 degrees. Put it on the oven. Put flower on the chicken." Then Roderick remembered something.

"First kill the chicken. Then clean it. Then put it on the oven."

Chris Pickering offered pumpkin pie.

After getting flour and milk for the crust, she wrote, "get a can of pumpcan. Milk and age; bake the pie 130 degrees 53 minits to bake it. After bake let cool 10 minits. Then all that's left is to cut and eat."

Regina Barnett recommended "appl pi." "Put the appl pi in pan. Then put the appl pi in the stove. Cuk the appl pi about mins. Eat it now."

Mrs. Morgan, asked if she had sampled any of the recipes, replied, "I'm afraid to. But the kids think they're good chefs."

China — N. Vietnam

LONDON (AP) — Communist diplomats named two south Chinese ports Friday that could take Soviet arms shipments if President Nixon's interdiction of North Vietnam's sea approaches succeeds.

These senior diplomats disclosed that an existing Viet-Chinese-North Vietnamese agreement already provides for the transportation of Soviet supplies by rail across China to Hanoi. Teams of North Vietnamese must the sealed trains at the Soviet-Chinese frontier and guide them across Chinese territory.

The Communist informants forecast that the U.S. policy of mining North Vietnamese ports almost certainly will lead to the extension of the three-sided agreement to permit Soviet access to harbors in south China, which now are immune from attack.

If this happens, the informants said, North Vietnam's lifelines to its northern sponsors will remain open and the Nixon administration's new policy will have produced extended cooperation between the feuding Russians and Chinese.

In 1968, military advisers told Nixon's National Security Council the Communists could move up to 16,000 tons of supplies daily along the rail and road systems into North Vietnam.

The President this week said the rail, road and river lines of supply from the Chinese frontier southward will be bombed; strikes already are under way. These raids would, presumably, be intensified if the Communists begin channeling supplies through the ports of south China.

U.S. Planes Destroy Bridge

Hanoi-China Rail Link Cut

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers have knocked out a key railroad bridge and cut Hanoi's northeast rail link with China, pilots reported Friday. Informants said North Vietnam's entire rail system has been heavily bombed.

At sea, the Pentagon reported, several merchant ships bound for North Vietnamese ports apparently have changed course because of American mines planted in those ports. The Pentagon situation report also said two and possibly three additional foreign merchant vessels left Haiphong harbor before the mines were activated Thursday. This was in addition to five reported earlier to have pulled out before the deadline, and would leave 28 or 29 in Haiphong harbor.

On the ground, North Vietnamese gunners slammed barrage after barrage of heavy shells into An Loc, still striving to take their second South Vietnamese provincial capital and move closer to Saigon.

In the central highlands, U.S. military sources reported that an unspecified number of American military personnel including clerks, nurses and supply workers are being evacuated from Pleiku to Nha Trang in anticipation of further fighting. There had been about 2,800 Americans in Pleiku. The city is 27 miles south of Kon Tum, considered the next objective of North Vietnamese forces in the highlands.

Lt. Col. John P. O'Gorman, St. Louis, Mo., commander of a fighter squadron in Da Nang, disclosed that bombers pounded the railroad bridge on the northeast line for 15 minutes Thursday, collapsing several concrete supports.

"It was a good day's work," said O'Gorman, who escorted the bombers to protect them against MIG interceptors. "They (the bombers) really worked over that bridge."

O'Gorman did not pinpoint the location of the bridge.

North Vietnam has two rail lines connecting with China. The northeast line is considered the most important.

It is believed that U.S. bombers will have to strike almost daily to keep the lines cut because North Vietnam likely will attempt to repair them as fast as they are hit.

Fierce fighting has raged at An Loc, 60 miles north of the South Vietnamese capital, since early in the North Vietnamese offensive. It has intensified this week.

Saigon headquarters spokesmen sought to play down the An Loc action Friday, saying the situation there was not so serious as it had been the previous day. Field reports said, however, that the town was hit by 3,000 more shells during the day, following a record bombardment.

Flood Waters Swamp Towns

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — A wall of water spawned by torrential rains swept down on this town of nearly 20,000 and raced south to Seguin, leaving at least 11 dead Friday and an undetermined number missing, authorities said.

The New Braunfels police chief, Royce Couch, estimated that 3,000 persons fled their homes. The Red Cross set up four shelters in New Braunfels and one in Seguin, 16 miles southeast.

"It was fast," Comal County Sheriff Walter Fellers said of the flood. "We had one area up there (in surrounding hills) I know that had 10 inches of rain in 1 1/2 hours."

Fellers described the flood as "a wall of water and rising at the same time."

The flood waters receded rapidly as they ran off toward the Gulf of Mexico.

The rains began Thursday night but the peak of the flood did not strike New Braunfels until early Friday morning.

One of the dead was Clarence R.E. Knesch, agent in charge of the San Antonio Secret Service office and a resident of New Braunfels.

The Secret Service said Knesch, 51, was swept away while helping other residents. His body was found two hours later.

State police identified four other victims by late afternoon. They were Sara Teague, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Teague of Houston; Mrs.

Joe Faust, wife of a former mayor of New Braunfels; Karen Richter, 56, of New Braunfels and Joseph E. Fowler of Lockhart, about 25 miles northeast of New Braunfels.

The Texas Department of Public Safety, which made the death count, said reconnaissance flights by a department helicopter showed about 50 homes flooded at one time at New Braunfels and another 50 flooded in the area of Seguin, a town of 16,000.

A department spokesman said nine persons died in the New Braunfels area and two in the region of Seguin.

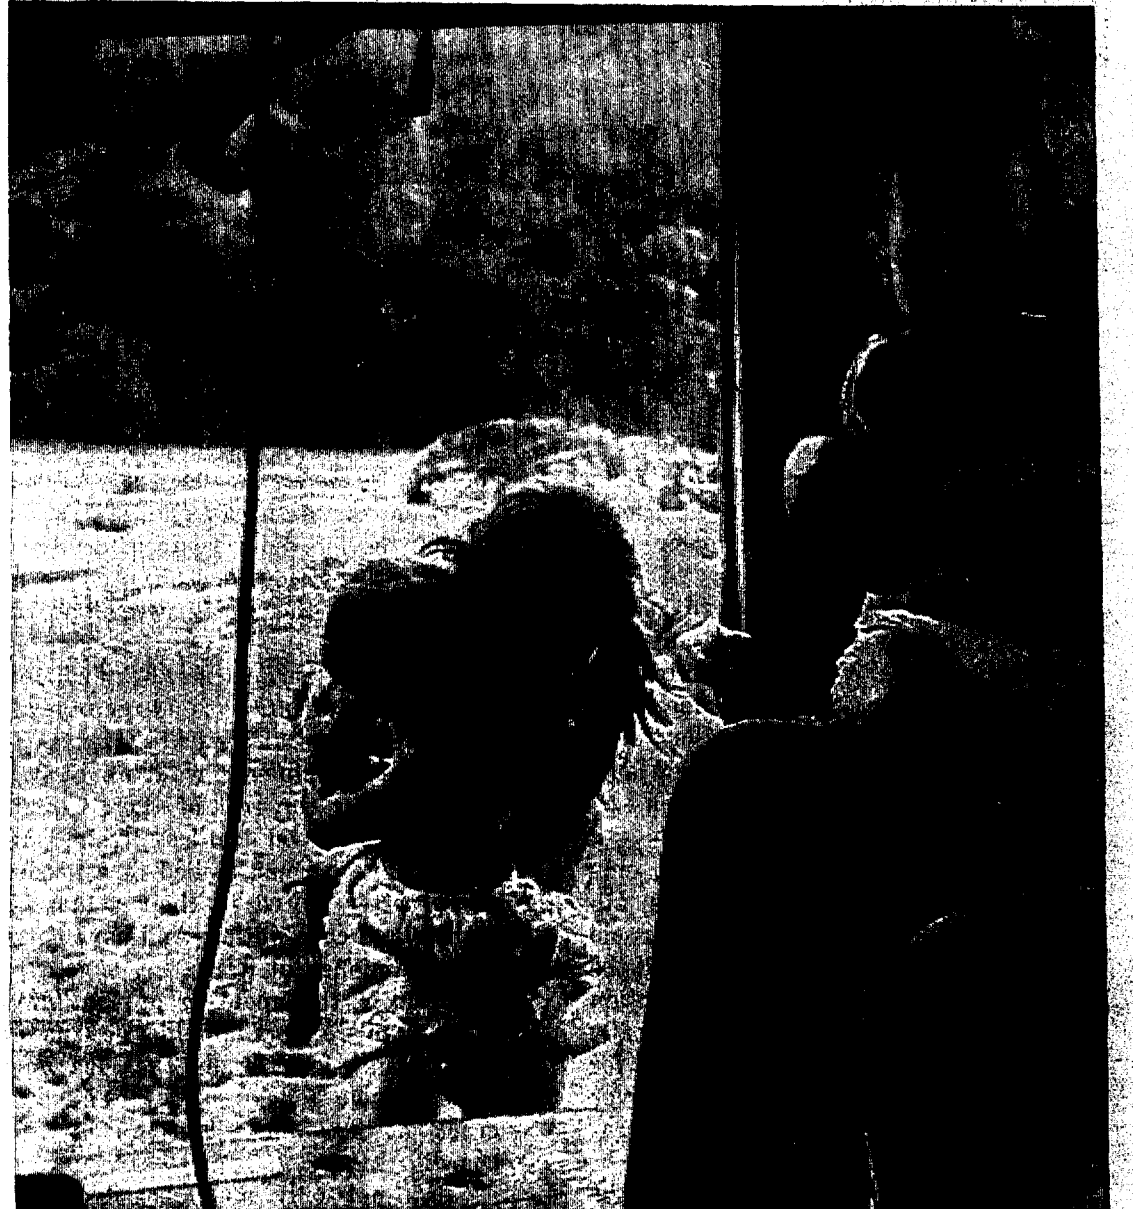

There also was some minor flooding at San Marcos, northeast of New Braunfels.

Brig. Gen. C.A. Wilson, National Guard commander in charge of rescue operations, said some looting occurred and unarmed Guardsmen were stationed to prevent recurrences.

Wilson said the high water was expected to flood an area between Seguin and Gonzales on the Guadalupe River and lakeside and riverside homes were being evacuated.

New Braunfels is in a valley between the Comal and Guadalupe rivers. The main business section is 40 to 50 feet above the normal level of the rivers and was untouched by the flood. Damage was in an area of residences and small industries.

At one time, each river was 150 to 200 feet across compared with a normal width of 25-30 feet.

Prowar, Antiwar Acts Staged Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Antiwar violence died down somewhat Friday, but mass rallies of protest against President Nixon's new Vietnam policy were scheduled for 20 cities Saturday, one of them in front of the White House in Washington.

Meanwhile, police using tear gas drove back rampaging Cornell University demonstrators, traffic-blocking protesters at Yale University were arrested, a deactivated mine sweeper was seized by antiwar militants in St. Louis, and telephone cables were cut in Salt Lake City.

A police motorcycle was set afire and rocks, cans and bottles hurled by 2,500 antiwar protesters who clashed with police outside a San Francisco hotel where Republican Govs. Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller were kicking off President Nixon's California reelection campaign at a state Republican meeting. Firemen were called when someone set a trash container ablaze.

"Mounted and foot patrolmen in riot gear swung nightsticks and moved the demonstrators back from the St. Francis hotel and into side streets. Hard hat construction workers atop a nearby building project cheered the police and shouted "give 'em hell."

Occasional manifestations of support for President Nixon cropped up, however.

Deputy sheriff John Seay estimated that 15,000 persons marched through Fort Walton Beach, Fla. to the Chamber of Commerce offices, where they signed petitions backing the President.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Asia was formed in Salt Lake City and scheduled its initial rally for Saturday. Co-Chairman Michael C. Burton said the committee believes "elite South Korean troops and 250,000 soldiers offered by the Republic of China should be allowed to join an invasion of North Vietnam."

A conservative organization, Young Americans for Freedom, claiming 50,000 to 60,000 members, also held a rally in Salt Lake City.

W. Germany Afflicted By Rash Of Bombings

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Bombs exploded at a German police building in Munich and another in Augsburg on Friday as authorities investigated the blasts at a U.S. Army headquarters compound in Frankfurt that killed an American officer and injured 13 persons the day before.

Frankfurt police also reported receiving an anonymous telephone call that two bombs had been planted near the U.S. military post exchange. A search revealed no explosives, they said.

A police official reported earlier two "heavy caliber" undetonated bombs had been found at the PX, which is about one-quarter mile from the ravaged Army compound. The Army estimated damages at $300,000.

American military police and German civilian police declined to speculate on whether the bombings were politically inspired.

The latest bomb attacks were made on city police headquarters in Augsburg and the Bavarian state police office in Munich.

Two bombs went off shortly after noon on the fourth and fifth floors of the Augsburg building, injuring at least one police official, authorities said. Windows were shattered, doors ripped out and the ceiling damaged.

The explosion in Munich followed three hours later and was considerably stronger than the Augsburg blasts, police said.

The bomb exploded in an auto in the police office parking lot. The car was destroyed and 40 other autos damaged, police said. There were no reports of serious injuries.

Investigators said there were no clues on who planted the bombs.

Lt. Col. Paul A. Bloomquist, 39, Salt Lake City, Utah, was killed in the Thursday bombing. His decorations included a Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf clusters for wounds suffered in two tours of duty in Vietnam.

Bloomquist, fatally injured by the powerful bomb that devastated the American club in Frankfurt, is by his widow and two children.

Two other bomb victims, the Army headquarters building, were wrecked, the hall, a cafeteria and hundreds of

A Fitting Tribute For A Noble American

Percy Julian, distinguished scientist, has received scores of awards and more than a dozen honorary degrees in recognition of his many and varied services to humanity. None, however, seems more appropriate than the dedication by MacMurray College of its new chemistry building as the Percy Lavon Julian Hall of Chemistry.

Dr. Julian, grandson of Alabama slaves, first discovered the fascination of chemistry as a college student at DePauw. He pursued this discipline successfully in academic and later in industrial areas, finally establishing his own research laboratories in Chicago and Mexico City.

Author of many scientific papers and the holder of more than 100 patents, Dr. Julian's brilliant mind has contributed untold benefits to mankind.

Yet despite his steady progression in the scientific and business world, life was not all roses for the Julian family. They suffered, with other Black people, the bitter pangs of discrimination and prejudice. Percy Julian responded to the ugly thrusts of racism, not in kind, but in a renewed commitment to human betterment and social justice. In his humble soft-spoken manner he has been a powerful force in the quest for universal brotherhood.

MacMurray's honor to Dr. Julian, like his other accolades, stems as much from his great heart as it does from the achievements of his outstanding intellect.

The Percy Julian Hall of Chemistry should, for generations of students yet to come to the Jacksonville campus, be a landmark of inspiration.

There's A Hidden Cost In College 'Education'

One of the high costs of higher education you don't hear mentioned much is the high cost in losing good craftsmen.

The "everybody-goes-to-college" philosophy puts vast numbers of high school graduates with no definite aims in, for instance, college business administration courses. The major result may be the loss of a lot of good auto mechanics, carpenters, television repairmen and so on.

The sorry part of it is that only a small percentage of business administration graduates will ever do much real administrating. It will be apparent to those wielding promotion powers that most of them aren't really good administrators. And even for those who are, the room gets scarcer and scarcer toward the top of the pyramid.

Successful administrating is in good part a knack, a gift. One might be able to memorize the whole kit and kaboodle of textbooks and still strike out on the job. Four years of academic effort, or coasting, doesn't produce an executive in the great percentage of cases.

The fact is, an overwhelming percentage of students with adequate brain power, finances and sticktuitiveness to get a college diploma wind up in routine jobs for the rest of their careers when, with a good deal less strain, they might have become skilled in a needed craft better suited to their actual interests and capabilities. And have earned more money at it.

But in the updating of the "anybody-can-grow-up-to-be-president" American Dream, the idea now seems to be for everyone to have a crack at becoming chairman of the board.

It's not only an impossible, but a costly dream.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Dr. J. W. Varborough, superintendent of the Greenfield school unit for the past five years, has resigned effective July 1 to accept a similar post in Rossville, Vermillion county.

The Jacksonville Crimsons swept the district track and field meet in Macomb Friday, qualifying six men to enter the state meet in Champaign.

State Representative Paul Simon of Troy, Ill., will be the speaker at MacMurray College Sunday evening. His subject will be "A Christian in Politics and Business."

20 YEARS AGO

Ed Bargery is the new president of the Jacksonville Men's Bowling association. The other officers are Bud Lair, Dave Dickerson, Earl Graves and Don Scott.

Robert E. Merriman, Chicago alderman, will speak at Jones Chapel, Illinois College, Thursday morning. His subject will be "Crime and City Government."

Jewell Aubrey Mann of Lawrenceville has been chosen to head the Jacksonville public school system. He succeeds D. R. Blodgett.

50 YEARS AGO

The final report of the flood relief committee reveals the people of Jacksonville contributed $5,976.80 for the benefit of their bereft neighbors in Beardstown and Naples.

Farmers of the Joy Prairie community met Tuesday evening and formed a livestock shipping club. Lewis C. Myers was elected manager.

The dog poisoners are at it again, this time in the west end and several prized canines have been demised.

75 YEARS AGO

Yesterday Carrie Woods was fined $75 and costs for keeping a bawdy house and Fay Willis was assessed $25 and the trimmings for being an inmate. Before now the customary tariff was $25 and $10 respectively, but Mayor Holley has vowed to go hard upon the soiled doves and their coots.

Good farming weather has tended to make trade rather quiet, though seasonable goods have been much in demand. Collections are slow.

The click of the corn planter is abroad in the land.

Horrible must have been the fate of our ancestors, to die bald-headed, for want of Rennen's Coconut Oil. (ADV.)

Major George M. McConnel, mayor of Jacksonville, will be presented by his friends in the state convention, as a delegate to the Philadelphia convention. No better man could be selected.

Moonlight nights again; spring breezes, flowers, showers, bowers, blissful hours, ice cream, smooth roads, buggy rides, Boston kisses. What a time for lovers! The winter of their discontent is now made glorious by their spring time of love-making.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Actually, I'm riding a bike to work for the exercise, to reduce air pollution, and because my car was recalled by the factory!"

By NORMAN KEMPSTER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is preparing a political counterattack which he hopes will blunt tax reform as an election issue for the Democrats.

While his potential Democratic opponents belabor him with talk of closing the tax loopholes through which some rich people escape taxation, Nixon has maintained an official attitude of: "What loopholes?"

The Republican administration's first line of defense is to insist that the tax laws are fair and equitable, pointing out that far more tax money is lost through the deduction for interest payments on home mortgages than through oil depletion or interest-free municipal bonds.

The fall back position is to propose some sort of "true tax reform." The Treasury Department is actively preparing several variations on that theme but the President has made no decision on which—if any—one of them to adopt.

A Treasury official has said the tax reform plan, if actually proposed, will be intended to encourage saving and investment instead of consumption. This could be done by imposing a value added tax—a sort of national sales tax—combined with either cutting corporate and personal income taxes or avoiding an increase in those taxes.

The economics behind such a move is to give people an incentive to save. If taxes are paid when money is spent instead of when it is earned, thrift is rewarded.

Critics of such an approach claim that it hits hardest at the poor who must spend all of their income just to live.

The administration is also considering a value added tax as a substitute for local property taxes.

So far, Nixon has stoutly defended the tax breaks for business and the wealthy which the leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination take such pleasure in attacking.

A Lot of Talk
There has been a lot of talk lately about the need for tax reform, and a great deal of criticism of so-called tax loopholes. Nixon told a group of 200 rich and powerful Texans recently at Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's ranch home.

"One of the loopholes is supposed to be depreciation," he said. "Another is supposed to be (oil) depletion (allowance). Now all of you here in this state know my position on depletion and depreciation, and you also know that this administration has been subjected to considerable criticism on the ground that we are for big business and we are for rich oil men and against people."

"I will tell you what we are for," he said. "What we are for is for more jobs for America and for American industry to be able to compete abroad."

The President then recited the industrial gains of post-war Germany and Japan. This, he said, was due to tax laws which favor investment.

Going Further Favored
That is why I strongly favor not only the present depreciation rate, but going even further than that...

That is why in terms of depletion, rather than moving in the direction of reducing depletion allowance, let us look at the fact that all of the evidence now shows that we are going to have a major energy crisis in this country in the '80s.

To avoid that energy crisis we have to provide incentive rather than disincentive for people to go out and explore for oil," he said. "That is why you have depletion, and the people have got to understand it."

Economists differ on the soundness of Nixon's analysis. The argument went over well with the carefully selected audience in Connally's backyard. Whether it can be sold to the mass market of the electorate, this fall, is another question.

Washington Pressures Await Hoover Successor

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The kind of man the new FBI director turns out to be may have a greater bearing on your life and mine than any other appointment made by a U.S. president.

If J. Edgar Hoover's 48 years in the post are at all indicative of the future, his successor will, from time to time, face political pressure of the strongest type aimed at using the very considerable power of the FBI in ways dangerous to democracy and to our liberties.

If history is any judge, these pressures will come both from "liberals" and "conservatives"—or men who use these labels to describe themselves.

Hoover faced down these pressures with guts and with some very able marshaling of his political and public defenses. For courage alone is not enough. To defend against such pressures, you must have political resources and the ability to use them.

Three examples will illustrate what Hoover's successor will face:

After watching the FBI in operation for something over two decades, this reporter has, on occasion these past few years, awakened at night worrying over who might be Hoover's successor. I would think of the information in those millions of files. A ruthless politician with that data could come close to destroying much of his opposition.

Not too many years ago, this reporter knows that a very high U.S. government official made direct personal attempts to secure the FBI's files for use against his political enemies. Among other things, he had a list of opposition congressmen he wished to tarnish.

Hoover faced him down. Though this powerful politician then set out to destroy him, Hoover was by then so well entrenched and had so much prestige that this man, with all his high connections, could not force Hoover to do his will. But Hoover bore the marks of these attacks until his death.

The question is, could a new man, however courageous, face this type of pressure?

Then again, there has long been a movement within Congress for enlarging the police powers of the federal government. There have been moves to give the FBI more power on the college campuses, to make more crimes federal crimes, thus giving the FBI more authority.

In these piecemeal moves Hoover saw danger—the risk of making the FBI a national police force. He repeatedly told colleagues he would have no part in that—that a national police would be a step toward a police state.

Most assuredly Hoover's successor will also face this problem time and again—as local violence threatens to get out of hand and Congress moves toward stronger federal crime laws. Hoover's answer was that these problems, great as they are, are for local communities and local police—and that the FBI role was in providing information, training and backup for local police forces, on request—and for work on a few truly national crime problems.

A succession of political figures have attempted to bring their men into the FBI—either as a means of moulding the institution to their own partisan objectives, or as a means of providing jobs for faithful retainers. Here Hoover was particularly fierce. For the ineffective agency he inherited was a shambles because it was hackridden and dominated by politics.

It is certain that at one time or another men with political authority will again attempt such infiltration. Hoover's predecessors were unable to resist those moves. It is essential that his successors have the will and the ability to hold firm at whatever political cost to themselves.

Hoover was a human being. Like all of us, he had weaknesses. But when we think of those, let us remember the great strengths, too.

Ann Landers: Smart To Eat Sensibly

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what is happening in our society to make everyone so weight- and calorie-conscious? I've had women who are darned near strangers tell me they lost four inches last month. This morning the elevator operator confided between the first and fifth floor that she had lost five pounds. The guy whose desk is behind me asked me this noon what I usually dream about. When I told him, "None of your business," he looked surprised and said, "I dream about strawberry shortcake."

This afternoon at about three o'clock I felt a little weary so I went to the vending machine and bought a candy bar. The woman whose desk is across from mine looked up and said, "You don't need that. A couple of carrots would be a lot better for you." I told her they don't sell carrots in the hall. She suggested I bring some from home. I lost my cool and said I wasn't interested in a lecture on nutrition. She snapped back, "The people who need it never are."

Please explain this sudden interest from the health nuts.—Not Starving

Dear Not: These people aren't so nuts. We've learned a lot about nutrition these past 20 years and it's helping to prevent heart attacks and other diet-related diseases. Women who starve themselves for vanity's sake are balmy, but it's smart to eat sensibly, exercise regularly and watch your weight.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll come right to the point and hope you will, too. Joe and I went together two years before we were married in a church. We talked about having a family. The idea appealed to him a lot in our courting days. "A boy for me and a girl for you"—in fact he said he'd like three or four kids.

Now, a year later, he says he's changed his mind. He claims his brother's kids make him nervous. He has decided that we aren't going to have any children—not even adopted ones. The thought of a life without a family upsets me terribly. I feel as if I have been betrayed. Whenever I see a tiny baby I have to fight back the tears. Please help me.—23 And Miserable In Montana

Dear Montana: If you're miserable now, wait awhile. Your misery will grow with your resentment. Frankly, I don't see how you can find peace and contentment with this man. Discuss the problem with the clergyman who married you and ask him to guide you.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from O-H-I-O who wanted to know what ordinary, everyday people can do about pollution and the ruination of our environment. When I read that letter I recognized a terrific opportunity to let the world know about our non-profit group of dedicated people who are working tirelessly to preserve our environment and the quality of life. This group was formed less than two years ago by ten concerned Americans, including Apollo astronaut Walt Cunningham and Apollo 9 astronaut Rusty Schweickart.

"Awareness" is our middle name. "Earth, I care" is our motto. When enough concerned adults and young people join forces to get a job done, there's no stopping them. Please, Ann, tell anyone who is interested to write to Earth Awareness Foundation, 350 Grove Street, Somerville, New Jersey 08876. Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. We've got lots of ideas. What we need now is people who will help us.—John Hart (Author of comic strips, Wizard of Id and B.C.)

Dear Johnny: I dig Earth and I'm with you, friend. Good luck.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Federal investments in national, state and local parkslands through the Land and Water Conservation Fund rose to about $600 million by March 31, 1971. The World Almanac notes. About half of the fund was for acquisition of 600,000 acres of lands for national parks, forests and wildlife refuges; the remainder went to state and local outdoor recreation projects.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Misery Caused By Misinformation

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—My daughter had a very unhappy love affair and contracted gonorrhea. This happened 25 years ago. What I would like to know is, can she work in a hospital or restaurant? We know this kind of work requires a blood test. Would the test show that she has had this? She wouldn't want anyone to know that she had this problem.

Of course, there are many more cases of individuals who lose hair with normal thyroid than there are with individuals with thyroid trouble. In any case, if you really have a deficient thyroid, the best treatment for your scalp and hair is to have adequate replacement of thyroid hormone. The best approach to ointments and shampoos is to use as little as possible and use mild shampoo. In truth harsh shampoos, many times and rinses can actually irritate the scalp of some people. This can aggravate the problem rather than help it.

GREENE EXTENSION PLANS SPRING MEETING MAY 23RD

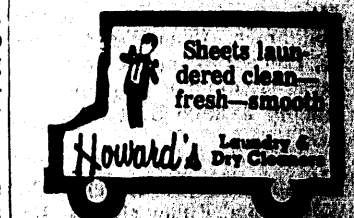

Dear Reader—Your letter is a beautiful testimony to the human misery that can be caused by misinformation or lack of information. I am sorry to say that you and your daughter have been needlessly concerned for nearly 25 years. The type of blood test that is used for various types of employment is for syphilis and is unrelated to gonorrhea.

As you state, your daughter was wise to go straight to the physician and if she was treated adequately at the time of the illness, there would be no evidence whatsoever that she had gonorrhea. This can be a serious disease but if it is treated immediately, there is minimal risk of residual difficulties. The most common complication that occurs in women is to have scarring or fibrosis of their fallopian tubes so that they are unable to have children. Of course, this problem also occurs from other causes besides gonorrhea.

I surely do hope that this information will help you and your daughter both to quit worrying about this. Your letter also demonstrates how people punish themselves through ill-advised guilt reactions.

Luncheon reservations should be made in the County Home Extension office by May 17.

There's a lot of sentimentality in the observance of Mother's Day. Let's be practical. Only one thing really counts: MY CHILD! There is no glory in being a mother unless one has learned how to prepare a child for life. Nor is there any pride in motherhood unless one has done her utmost to share with her child the great spiritual heritage which is her own. People love to compliment us: "Just like her mother!" they say. If mothers through the centuries had been satisfied with that goal, our civilization would have stagnated in the days of the cave men. The mark of a devoted mother is her desire to make her child even a finer person than she or her husband has become. And in this common aim she and her husband find their staunchest ally in the Church.

One of the popular bids with our younger experts today is the so-called "gambling three no-trump."

This bid shows a solid minor suit with a little something on the side and is designed to upset the opponents. It works occasionally, but in our opinion it is definitely a losing proposition.

The bid led to the early elimination from this year's Vanderbilt of one of America's leading bridge teams.

South's bid shut everybody out, but it did not keep West from opening a club and the defense had five club tricks and a heart before declarer could get in.

The only man it shut out of the bidding was North. Four spades is almost an ironclad contract and five actually makes, but it seems that the other team was also gambling three no-trump addicts. South opened the same three no-trump. West opened the three of clubs. East played the ace and returned the eight.

West looked at South's jack for a long time and finally came up with the super-brilliant play of the deuce. This is the sort of mistake only a great expert can make. Ordinary players can't get quite such violent brainstorms.

It didn't hurt South. He gasped and then proceeded to take the rest of the tricks by taking the spade finesse.

CARD Sense

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	1 ♥	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	2 N.T.
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 N.T.
Double	Redouble	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ A 6 5 4 ♥ K 6 3 2 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ 5 4

What do you do now?

A—Pass. And don't be unhappy. You are likely to make this contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Again your partner opens one club. This time you hold:

♠ K J 5 4 ♥ K 8 7 6 ♦ 3 2 ♣ Q 10 7

What do you do now?

Demos Consider Women As At-Large Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has asked state party chairmen to consider appointing women and minority-group members to at-large delegate seats for the party's national convention.

In a letter sent to party chairmen in every state, O'Brien suggested that they consider distributing at-large delegate seats to balance the convention delegations if earlier district elections produced lopsided representation.

Five Charged With Theft Of 89 Shotguns

CHICAGO (AP) — Five persons were charged Friday in connection with the theft of 89 shotguns.

The Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney's office said the weapons, valued at $20,000, were taken from a shipment originating at the Remington Arms factory in Ilion, N.Y., and headed for the Midwest Shooters Supply Co., in Schaller, Iowa.

Howard R. Walls, 36, of suburban Oak Park, one of those arrested, worked for a trucking company in Chicago which was to transfer the shipment to another carrier for shipment to the Iowa outlet in March, authorities said.

Louis Cantone, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, said during the investigation several weapons were allegedly sold to undercover agents.

Charged with theft were Walls, his wife Caroline, William R. Fussell, 23, and Joseph A. De Salvo, 29, both of Oak Park. William Cerny of Oak Park was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Cantone also said William J. Luckner, 40, of Forest Park, another suburb, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon for allegedly selling a World War machine gun to an undercover agent.

Federal authorities were notified of the arrests, Cantone said, and additional charges were pending.

This and other steps can be taken, O'Brien said, to broaden the convention states and prevent challenges.

The National Women's Political Caucus has filed challenges against about half the state delegations chosen so far, primarily on grounds that women are underrepresented.

The women's caucus also has suggested using the at-large delegates to correct imbalances in state delegations.

O'Brien's letter, dated April 26, came three weeks after the Women's Caucus accused him of retreating from reform goals.

The caucus quoted a letter from O'Brien to its director, Doris Meissner, in which he said the delegate credential challenges would show whether women were illegally hampered from seeking delegate seats or whether they were not interested enough to participate.

He said it was incumbent upon the Women's Caucus and other groups to get women to campaign for delegate seats.

The Women's Caucus said that a fundamental idea behind the reform rules put into effect for this year's convention was for party leaders to seek out women, minorities and young people in an effort to get them to participate in party politics.

The caucus accused O'Brien of reverting to putting the burden on those groups to participate on their own.

Howard R. Walls, 36, of suburban Oak Park, one of those arrested, worked for a trucking company in Chicago which was to transfer the shipment to another carrier for shipment to the Iowa outlet in March, authorities said.

Louis Cantone, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, said during the investigation several weapons were allegedly sold to undercover agents.

Charged with theft were Walls, his wife Caroline, William R. Fussell, 23, and Joseph A. De Salvo, 29, both of Oak Park. William Cerny of Oak Park was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Cantone also said William J. Luckner, 40, of Forest Park, another suburb, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon for allegedly selling a World War machine gun to an undercover agent.

Federal authorities were notified of the arrests, Cantone said, and additional charges were pending.

bers, announced in Washington that "we support the President's use of any effective military means including a full scale invasion of North Vietnam, if employed for a strategy of crippling the enemy's ability to make war."

About 130 windows were smashed at Ithaca, N.Y., as a crowd of 300 surged in and around the Cornell campus.

Tear gas billowed across the area and police and protesters scuffled. Three non-students were arrested and two policemen required hospital treatment. Property damage was estimated in the thousands of dollars.

There were a dozen arrests at New Haven, Conn., where demonstrators from Yale blocked traffic in the downtown area. Princeton University students continued their efforts to block access to the Institute of Defense Analysis on the New Jersey campus, and 44 were arrested.

Mountain Bell Telephone was confronted with a 12-hour repair job upon the early morning discovery that about 800 Salt Lake City subscribers were without phone service, the result of the axing of three multiple cables. At one of the three locations, police found a note reading: "End the war by 1 p.m."

Ten antiwar demonstrators went aboard a motorless Navy minesweeper on the Mississippi River at St. Louis, and sent a telegram to the national office of Vietnam Veterans Against the War reading:

"Minesweeper USS Inaugural liberated in St. Louis. Renamed Peoples' Ship Binh Hoa. Attempting to make operable. Need experienced Navy veterans for support and mechanical assistance."

The ship, which once won battle stars in the Pacific, now is a tourist attraction. The protesters paid their way aboard, while 30 other demonstrators sat on the river bank. Owner Robert O'Brien then closed the vessel to the public for the day.

In New York, the United Nations headquarters remained closed to the public for a second day, and the threat of renewed demonstrations did not materialize. The headquarters was closed Thursday during a five-hour sit-in by protesters who chained themselves to seats in the Security Council gallery.

An aide to O'Brien said this wasn't so but conceded that only four states responded to O'Brien's request last December for an outline of their plans to bring in new participants into the party.

O'Brien's latest letter to the state chairmen says the party "has made, and will continue to make, every effort to assist in achieving this goal."

If Opposites Attract Pandas Will Get Along

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If opposites attract one another, Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing should get along famously when they finally meet.

"They're as different as night and day," says Larry Collins, zoologist who cares for the two gift pandas from China. "She's an extrovert and he's an introvert."

Ling-Ling, the female, likes to charge her keepers whenever they enter her cage at National Zoo, Collins said. Hsing-Hsing, the male, just retreats quietly into a corner.

"He's kinda shy while she's the rough-and-ready type," he said.

Thousands of persons have trekked through the panda house since the rare animals arrived almost a month ago from Peking.

However, many visitors fail to glimpse the pandas because they spend much of their time napping in darkened cubicles out of sight of spectators.

And, though they live in adjoining cages, the 18-month-old pandas have never seen one another.

The tractable Hsing-Hsing keeps a clean cage, said Collins, but rambunctious Ling-Ling likes to make a mess.

"She tears bamboo out of the pots so that we have to replace it every few days," Collins said. "We've never had to replace Hsing-Hsing's."

The pandas probably will be introduced to one another when the garden adjoining their cages is completed and they can go outside. They'll be weighed then, too.

"They've both gained weight but we don't know how much because we haven't been able to get them outside to weigh them," Collins said.

Both seem to be in excellent health, he added.

Flea Collar Sales Rise When Barometer Falls

NEW YORK (UPI) — "This definitely is 'the Year of the Flea,'" said the young man with the bushy mustache and smiling eyes. "Because of an unusual combination of temperature and humidity, there will be more fleas this year than any time in the last century."

While that prospect might make most people shudder or itch, it gave great satisfaction to DeWitt Helm, the new president of Miller-Morton Co., a subsidiary of A.H. Robins, Inc., the big Richmond, Va. pharmaceutical firm. You could almost hear Helm's mind clicking as he noted that dog fanciers spent about $54 million on flea collars and tags in 1971. And his company took more than half that market through its Sergeant Pet Care department.

Helm expects sales to boom this year because the long-range weather information he buys from Weather Trends, Inc. predicts lots of humid days ahead. Fleas are more amorous in humid weather, so the reproduction rate is higher.

"We watch weather closely. Flea collar sales rise when the barometer falls," explained Helm.

Curve Should Go Up
Even without humidity the sales curve should go up, according to Helm. The "humanization" of pets has made that field an ever-expanding one. "Did you know," he asked, "that there are more licensed pets in the United States than children, that more money is spent on dog food than on baby food?"

"We fish where the fish are," said Helm. "We want to take a broad straddle and go after the mass market ... the 32 million dogs and 22 million cats in American homes. We want the house dog, not the show dog."

Nothing that sales in the pet accessory field alone run about $900 million annually, Helm said he's spreading the Sergeant label into such areas as pet beds, toys, collars, leashes and dishes.

In recent years Sergeant has added 160 new products, exclusive of food, to its line. "We already are the biggest in pet medicines, from cough syrups to ear creams," said Helm. "Why there's a $30 million dollar a year market potential in worming problems alone."

Management Team
His management team presently consists of 34 people averaging 38 years of age. His 81 salesmen serve 23,000 outlets. And he's determined to get into supermarkets. "That will be the next big push," he said.

The flea collar market is an example of how chance happenings affect the business world. Back in 1964 a man named Jack Greenberg walked into a Shell Oil Company office in California and noticed a material that looked like white spaghetti hanging from a coat hanger.

"What's that?" he asked. "Vapona, a material used to kill farm bugs" was the answer.

"Would it kill fleas?" Greenberg asked.

"It might," Greenberg's company paid less than $1,000 to test Vapona as a flea killer, found it worked. More than 100 million flea collars and tags have been sold since that day ... making a $64 million dollar industry which has attracted 31 companies.

In Fire After Collision

By JORGE VALLARINO
MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — A death ship arrived in Montevideo Friday. It was the British freighter Royston Grange and its 63 crewmen and 11 passengers were found below decks burned beyond recognition.

The 74 persons on board were trapped when the freighter collided with a Liberian tanker in the River Plate Thursday. Eight of the tanker's crewmen also were killed in the accident.

The 10,292-ton freighter, described by authorities as a charred hulk of melted steel, was anchored two miles out in Port Montevideo.

This correspondent boarded the burned out Royston Grange today.

No Sign of Life
In every sense of the word, it was truly a death ship. Scattered about the still glowing decks were bodies of men killed and burned following the collision. In some cases, all that was left of the men were skeletons. The charred flesh was ripped away by the powerful stream of water firemen poured on the ship.

There was absolutely no sign of life. The ship was an incandescent hulk.

It was truly macabre. Death was everywhere.

I saw human bones without flesh lying in the cabins. One of the skeletons I saw was in a crouched down or squatting position, as if (the man) was trying to stand up.

Carried Beef Cargo
Other skeletons in the crew quarters lay grotesquely on the metal base of what had been bunks. Everything else had been burned away.

The 10,292-ton Royston Grange was carrying a crew of 63, 10 passengers and an Argentine pilot. Its cargo was Argentine beef it was taking back to England.

Most of the men aboard the freighter were asleep when it smashed into the center of the 9,500-ton tanker, carrying a crew of 41 Hong Kong or Nationalist Chinese and 20 tons of crude oil.

One of the rescued crewmen from the tanker Tien Cheung, a Kam Wai of Hong Kong, said the freighter suddenly veered off course directly into the path of the tanker. He said the freighter's wheelman apparently feared he was going to run aground and swing the wheel too sharp.

Chinese Described As Hard-Working Early-To-Bed, Early-To-Rise Society

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — "It is a hard-working, early-to-bed, early-to-rise society."

That's the way Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., described mainland China for his colleagues Thursday.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, and his Republican counterpart, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, have just returned from a 16-day visit in China.

"The cities are clean, orderly and safe," Mansfield said, "the shops well stocked with food, clothing and other consumer items; policemen are evident only for controlling traffic and very few carry weapons. Soldiers are rarely seen."

"Crime, begging, drug addiction, alcoholism, delinquency are conspicuous in their absence. Personal integrity is scrupulous. In Canton, for example, a display case for lost-and-found articles in the lobby of the People's Hotel contained, among other items, a half-empty package of cigarettes and a pencil," he said.

Mansfield, making his first visit to mainland China in a quarter of a century, said a factory worker in Peking earns the equivalent of $22 a month and his wife works, making as much or more.

"That income is ample for a subsistence-plus existence because children are cared for free at a nursery or in public schools," Mansfield said.

"Rent takes only 5 per cent of total income. Basic food prices are low and fixed. Medical care is free. Entertainment is cheap; admission to a movie is about 10 cents."

Mansfield also reported that the rickshaws are gone and that bicycles and buses are the almost universal forms of transportation. He said China

BONN (UPI)—East and West Germany Friday initiated the first treaty ever worked out between the two halves of the divided nation. The pact covered improved road, rail and canal traffic.

East Germany also undertook to allow its citizens to visit West Germany to attend to "urgent family matters."

It would be the first time East Germans have been allowed to visit West Germany since the Communists built the Berlin wall Aug. 13, 1961.

The transportation treaty was initiated at the office of Chancellor Willy Brandt. It was initiated by state secretaries Egon Bahr of West Germany and Michael Kohl of East Germany.

However the treaty will not go into effect until it is formally signed.

The East Germans have said they would not sign it until the Bonn Parliament ratifies Brandt's non-aggression treaties with Russia and Poland.

The ratification vote, twice postponed in an attempt to negotiate opposition support for the treaties, is scheduled for Wednesday.

UPW FIX BANDAGES AT WHITE HALL
WHITE HALL — Members of the White Hall United Presbyterian Women met at the church May 8, where they cut, sewed and rolled bandages for Church World Service. Each partook of a sack lunch at the noon hour, dessert furnished by Mrs. Carl Bose.

The regular meeting was presided over by Mrs. Harvey Meckfessel. Group singing was followed by responsive reading and a poem and prayer given by Mrs. Meckfessel.

Devotions were presented by the Rev. Meckfessel. During the business session, the group voted to purchase towels and washcloths for the Kemper Orphanage at Assumption, Illinois.

Mrs. G. L. Rose gave the year book for prayer and study. It included churches in South Carolina, Georgia, South Dakota, New Guinea, Southern California, West Pakistan and Texas.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin was given by Mrs. Ray Rick. It was entitled, Am I-A Light to My Neighbor? Following the coin collection, prayer was given.

"The housing is of a subsistence type but is now sufficient to end the spectacle of millions of the homeless and dispossessed who in the past walked the tracks and roads or anchored their sam-pans in the rivers of China and lived out their lives in a space little larger than a rowboat."

SATURDAY, MAY 13 — Born today, you are one of those progressive individuals who is always interested in the new idea, the new method, the new product. You yourself possess an inventive streak that is not to be denied — which may in great measure account for your interest in "the latest thing" — but your own productivity never interests you quite so much as the results of other people's labors already on the market. Indeed, if left alone, you would very likely end in financial difficulties because of your enthusiasm for owning whatever is new and different.

Somewhat given to moodiness, you must take care that sudden changes of temperament don't impair your personal relationship. Children are especially open to all sorts of fears and complexes when they cannot depend upon the mood of an adult — particularly should that adult be in any way in a position of authority over them. You parents born on this day should take special heed to this; otherwise, you may be responsible for harming your children emotionally.

You possess a positive, even dominating personality, and may have difficulty keeping yourself out of the limelight even when you are at your most retiring. If a woman, you must be particularly careful not to but you would be wise to give them the floor once in a while. To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Spirits should be tremendously lifted today by morning events. Make sure that young friends know precisely what's going on.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Uncertain morning hours yield themselves to an extremely productive afternoon insofar as the family and relationships with children are concerned.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Keep your contacts with others — except for members of the immediate family — to a minimum. An excellent day for figuring things out on your own.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Use early morning hours to set your thoughts in order about the coming week. You may be in precisely the position you had hoped.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Turn your attention to devotional matters. Now is a good time to rediscover the spiritual nature that is yours by birth. Enliven chores with humor.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Bring no more pressure to bear than is necessary for the completion of the present task. Manners of youngsters could be improved upon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — A relatively peaceful Sunday which you can use to best advantage in the company of those with whom you have interests in common.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — A day of discovery for the Sagittarius who is willing to step out of character for a 201 — Renew your efforts when it comes to directing family thoughts in the way you would like them to go. Children may need special urging.

AURIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Spiritual matters appear more difficult to handle than they really are. You can placate others and satisfy yourself at the same time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Catch up on at-home outdoor chores. A good day for teaching untrained family members how to take over some of your responsibilities.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Though you may think you've been pursuing a direct course, you may be very much mistaken. Ask the man who's been there! Heed advice.

College Honors Julian

Dr. Percy Lavon Julian, distinguished guest of honor on the MacMurray College campus this weekend, was honored at an informal reception Thursday evening at the home of President and Mrs. John J. Wittich.

Dr. Julian was reunited with a group of former students and colleagues during the reception, all representing some point in his career as a chemist and a turning point in his rise to success as a scientist.

Dr. Julian arrived late for the reception. "Percy never did like too many social events and we expected him to be late," a lifelong friend confided. "But he was never late at the laboratory."

At right, Dr. Julian discusses his earlier career with associates. Above, Mrs. John Wittich, wife of MacMurray's president, introduces Frank Clay of Jacksonville to Dr. Julian. Seated at left is Dr. Reuben L. Kahn, professor of chemistry at Howard University who at age 85 continues in the field of research and teaching.

Formal dedication ceremonies for the new chemistry building on South Clay Avenue named in honor of Percy Lavon Julian will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. The public is invited to attend.

The international scientific symposium on the campus precedes the dedication.

Hawkeyes Take Doubleheader From Badgers

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa baseball squad swept a doubleheader from Wisconsin 10-2 and 4-0 Friday to put the Hawkeyes only two games away from the Big Ten baseball championship.

Iowa is to play Northwestern twice Saturday and, should the Hawkeyes win both contests, they will capture the championship no matter the outcome of other Big Ten games.

In the first game Friday, Mark Tschopp pitched a three-hitter and slammed a three-run homer to aid the Hawkeyes' victory. Tschopp boosted his season mark to 6-2.

Also adding the Hawks was a three-run homer by rightfielder Larry Schutzius.

In the second game, Bill Heckforth pitched his third Big Ten shutout the last four outings in posting a two-hit victory. Heckforth has a season record of 7-2 and a league mark of 5-0.

Iowa scored an unearned run in the fourth inning—all that was needed for victory. Three insurance runs came in the sixth inning on five hits.

McGinnis Lifts Pacers Over Nets

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — George McGinnis fired in 30 points and grabbed 20 rebounds as the Indiana Pacers raced to a 114-108 victory over the New York Nets Friday and took a 2-1 lead in their American Basketball Association championship series.

An ABA playoff record crowd of 15,241 watched the Pacers regain the home-court advantage they had lost by splitting the first two games of the best-of-seven series in Indiana. Game four will be played Monday night here at the Nassau Coliseum.

The standout performance by McGinnis, 6-foot-8, 235-pound rookie from Indiana University, enabled the Pacers to overcome a 44-point effort by the Nets' Rick Barry.

McGinnis gave the Pacers the lead for good, 82-61, with 2:19 gone in the third quarter. The Pacers remained in control the rest of the way, building their lead to as much as 12 points in the final period.

Freddie Lewis, the Pacers' leading scorer with a 27-point average in the series first two games, added 22 points and veteran Roger Brown had 20.

The Pacers, helped by McGinnis' 16 points and 12 rebounds, led at intermission 54-52.

Gophers Bounce Wildcats Into Conference Tie

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers, virtually eliminated from the Big Ten baseball race by falling 8-4 in the opener, came back to whip Northwestern 1-0 on Bob Turnbull's two-hitter Friday in the nightcap and knocked the Wildcats into a tie with Iowa for the conference lead.

The split left Iowa and Northwestern tied at 9-3 with their doubleheader Saturday at Iowa City possibly deciding the championship. Minnesota has a 9-5 record heading into its final doubleheader Saturday against Wisconsin.

Iowa swept a doubleheader from Wisconsin 10-2 and 4-0 Friday.

The Gophers got the only run in the nightcap when Gary Hohmann singled in the fourth inning, stole second and raced home on Dave Schelling's single.

Turnbull, making his first start in several games, retired the first 13 men he faced. The Wildcats got singles in the fifth and seventh innings.

Losing pitcher Steve McMullen allowed only four hits.

In the opener, Bob Arteneko, 4-0, scattered seven hits and survived a solo homer in the seventh by Minnesota's Rick Schoener. Bill Bauer and Bob Dekas led the Northwestern eight-hit attack with two hits and three runs batted in each.

Battling Bruins Ready To Boast

BOSTON (AP) — The mighty Boston Bruins reigned as Stanley Cup champions for the second time in three years Friday just waiting for the question they heard all last summer: "What happened?"

"I'm just waiting to be asked that darn question we heard all last year after the playoffs," center Phil Esposito said. "This year I'll be happy to tell everybody, particularly my brother Tony."

The high-scoring Boston forward, like all the other Bruins, was embarrassed plenty after being eliminated in the opening round of the playoffs in defense of the Stanley Cup last spring. He was ribbed quite a bit by brother Tony, the Chicago Black Hawks goalie.

The Bruins salvaged their wounded pride by sweeping everything this season. They easily won the Prince of Wales Trophy as East Division champions during the regular National Hockey League season.

Then they finished off what they failed to do in 1971, eliminating Toronto in five games, taking four in a row from St. Louis and then winning the Stanley Cup by blanking the Rangers in New York 3-0 Thursday night in the sixth game of the best-of-seven championship series.

"Now we can hold our heads high," veteran wing Eddie Westfall said. "All last summer, why just last week, the questions kept coming. Everyone wanted to know how a great team like ours could lose. This year we had to win to stop all the talk."

The weary Bruins had little time to rest Friday, returning home at 2:15 a.m. on a charter flight from New York. Most managed to avoid thousands of fans waiting to greet them at the airport.

However, the team received an official reception from Mayor Kevin White and the city later in the day.

Despite the weariness, the Bruins could smile as champions—and looking forward to additional checks—$2,500 per player for winning their division and another $15,000 for capturing the big prize.

Superstar Bobby Orr, who led the Bruins despite a damaged left knee, looked ahead to a Florida vacation, and probable surgery early in June.

"The knee feels fine," the 24-year-old defenseman said. "Right now, I don't feel anything. I'm just so happy. This is too sweet."

Orr, winner of the Conn Smythe Award as the playoffs' outstanding player, will hang around Boston to pick up a new car Monday. The car is awarded by Sport Magazine to the most valuable player in post-season action.

Orr was a runaway winner for MVP honors. After the Rangers spoiled the Bruins' planned celebration with a 3-2 victory in Boston in the fifth game, Orr personally took charge in winding up the 1971-72 season in New York. He scored the first goal, set up the second and was brilliant on defense.

The Rangers, who finished second to the Bruins during the regular season, collected an extra $7,500 per man as the Stanley Cup runner-up. That should help salve wounded pride, and they're already thinking of next year.

"The Bruins are a great team, but so are we," New York Coach Emile Francis said. "You can be sure we'll be back next year."

Kumler, Woods Better Records In Triangular

WAVERLY — John Kumler and John Woods both bettered their own school marks in the high jump and discus to highlight action in a quadrangular meet with Franklin and Portia Friday afternoon.

The Scotties captured team honors with a 95 point total, well ahead of Franklin and Portia with 30 and 28 points respectively.

Kumler jumped 6'2½" to set his best mark to date, while Woods whipped the discus 142' 6" for his finest effort.

Waverly is now 8-3 in competition.

Tied In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Heard fired a four-under-par 66 and tied Dave Stockton for the second-round lead Friday in the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Stockton, a former PGA champion, had a 68 on the tough Colonial Country Club course and matched Heard's five-under-par total of 135.

Lee Elder, one of the few black players on the pro tour, had a share of the lead until he bogeyed the 18th hole from a bunker.

He was tied at that figure with rangy Fred Marti, one of the first-round co-leaders, who matched par 70 on the 7,142 yard layout that played even longer because of heavy morning rain.

Australian veteran Bruce Crampton who shared the first round lead with Marti, had three-putt trouble and slipped to a fat 74 and 140. He was tied at that figure with fellow Australian Bruce Devlin, in with a second round 68.

Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Gary Player are not competing.

Heard, winner of $81,000 this year, is in his fourth year on the tour and scored his first victory last season on the tough Firestone course in the American Golf Classic.

He had it five under par for the day at one stage but bogeyed the 17th hole when he drove in the rough and was short two. It was his only bogey.

He moved to second as Bob Robertson walked and took third on a wild pitch. May then broke the 2-2 deadlock with his single to right that sent Robertson to third and knocked Dierker out of the game.

Reliever Jim Ray then permitted the second run with another wild pitch. Steve Blass got the victory.

Lee May scored from second base on an error by shortstop Gene Alley and hit his sixth home run of the season to account for the Astros' two runs.

Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner clubbed a lead-off homer in the top of the seventh to stretch his hitting streak to 15 games and end Dierker's shutout string at 15 innings.

Sanguillen followed Hebner with a single and later scored the tying run on pinch-hitter Vic Davallo's sacrifice fly.

Chicago's knuckleballing starter Wilbur Wood, 5-2, had the Orioles shut out on two hits before the White Sox fielding collapsed, giving Baltimore two of its three runs in the final two innings.

Kealey came on in the ninth and, after the Orioles scored their final run on shortstop Rich Morales' miscue, struck out pinch-hitter Terry Crowley and got Merv Rettenmund on a game-ending grounder.

Melton, last year's American League home run champion, slugged his first of the season in the second inning to put Chicago ahead to stay.

Allen blasted his fifth of the year in the fourth inning to make it 3-0 after Carlos May had singled with one out.

May's Single Carries Pirates Past Astros 4-2

HOUSTON (AP) — Milt May's tie-breaking single triggered a two-run ninth inning that carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-2 victory over the Houston Astros Friday night.

Manny Sanguillen's single opened the decisive rally off Houston starter Larry Dierker, 2-2.

He moved to second as Bob Robertson walked and took third on a wild pitch. May then broke the 2-2 deadlock with his single to right that sent Robertson to third and knocked Dierker out of the game.

Lynnville Methodist whipped Lincoln Avenue 16-2, with Steve Patterson clouting a home run for the victors, Paul Hem-brough adding a triple and two doubles and Davell Brown getting a double.

Nazarene got 22 runs on 22 hits to swamp Church Christ 2-8. Claude Smith hit two home runs and two doubles to pace the winners, with Rick Harmon belting two round trippers, J. D. Hawk lofting a solo, Dean Vanter hitting one home run and two doubles and Mike Haven picking up a double.

Phil Holloway and Steve Retzer hit home runs for the losers.

In the closest contest of the night, Lynnville Christian scored four runs in the final frame to nip Lincoln Ave. 4-3. Marvin Finch and Reg Mason hit doubles for the winners, while Pete George hit two for Lincoln.

Our Saviours clobbered First Presbyterian 53-5. Jim Dyer, Michael Johnson, Boyd Farmer, Dale Farmer and Dave Eoff all hit home runs for Our Saviours.

The First Baptist and Litterberry Baptist game was rained out at Nichols Park, while the Litterberry Christian and Murrayville Methodist game was washed out at the State Hospital diamond.

NEW YORK — Baseball's superstar Willie Mays gets the Key to the City from New York's Mayor John Lindsay Friday afternoon. Mays was traded to the New York Mets by the San Francisco Giants and returns to the city where he began his career 21 years ago.

Willie Deserves Royal Treatment

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — They were giving Willie Mays what he deserves.

That means they were giving him the royal treatment. First his new employer, the Mets, provided a shiny black Cadillac limousine which took him to Shea Stadium and when he arrived there he was whisked upstairs to talk with the press, say a few words for radio and TV and meet some other people with the club.

Willie Mays did everything he was asked. Everything they wanted him to do.

Then he did something HE wanted to do. He did it without anybody else around. No one from the media.

He walked into the Mets' clubhouse for the first time. He had never been in there before. Most of the players were out on the field for the opener of a day-night doubleheader with the Dodgers.

But Jerry Grote, the Mets' catcher, happened to be in the clubhouse. He had come in to get something.

"Welcome and good luck, Willie," Grote said, shaking Mays' hand.

Jim Beauchamp, the Mets' pinch-hitter and part-time first baseman, followed Grote in.

"Hey, Jim!" Willie called out, noticing the 24 on his back. "Whaddya doing with my number?"

Beauchamp laughed.

Dave Marshall, who had played with Willie two years with the Giants, also walked into the clubhouse and when he saw his old buddy his face lit up.

"Look who's here!" he laughed, pumping Willie's hand.

Willie Mays originally thought he'd play his first game for the Mets Sunday. His old club, the Giants, would furnish the opposition and Sam McDowell, a lefthander would be going for them and lefthanders always have been a little easier for Willie. On thinking about it, though, he changed his mind and said he'd suit up against the Giants tonight. But in a way, the Mets already had welcomed him aboard.

Not only the Mets, but all those who knew him when—the baseball fans of New York.

"I heard he was here and I just had to come," she beamed. "I can't work and I can't drive, but I had to come. Oh mercy, now I know I'm gonna get better."

On the way back to midtown Manhattan in another limousine, Willie talked about the events of the past hour.

"... That someone still wants you at my age," he said softly, almost to himself. "It makes you feel so good, so wonderful. I wish I could express my feelings. I only wish I knew how."

He looked at a newsman seated in the car alongside him. "You express it for me," he said. "Please."

Willie talked about his former employer, Horace Stoneham, the president of the Giants who, when they asked him how he felt about giving up Mays, had said:

"I'm going to be very lonesome, and very happy because I feel I accomplished something that will make his future completely secure."

At first, Willie explained, he was hurt that Stoneham hadn't called him to tell him about the deal with the Mets. Mays found it out when a newsman called him in Philadelphia.

"But now I understand," Willie said as the limousine toiled through the Midtown Tunnel. "Horace was more concerned for me than I was. He couldn't call me. The kind of emotion both of us have, if he'd have called me before, we'd both start crying. He called me in Montreal yesterday and said 'Come to New York.' He didn't have to say a lot more. I understood what he meant then but I didn't know that at the beginning. I went through a week of hell not knowing anything."

Willie then talked about Don Grant, the Mets' board chairman, about how considerate Grant was of him and how he kept thinking about the Mets' fans all the time.

"He wanted me to play tonight," Willie said. "He asked me to and I said, 'If that's what you want I'll do it.' But it takes 24 hours for the (trade) papers to clear so it couldn't be done. I would've played. If a man comes to you and says, 'Chee, could you come and play tonight for the fans?' I wouldn't care if I went 0-for-10, I'd do it."

Mays feels it will probably work out better this year, anyway, meaning he will have two days to get his things in order before playing for the Mets for the first time.

"Two days will give me time to get myself out of the sky down to the ground," he said. "I'll be much more effective. I'll be able to do more for the fans."

What about that woman who had run up and kissed him? "I don't want to say anything about the cities because I was treated wonderfully in San Francisco," Willie said. "But I just don't have anything like that in San Francisco. What happened back there, with the Naomi Smokes and she said she had recently undergone hospital surgery."

New Jersey Group Seeking To Get Celtics

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — David "Sonny" Werblin, said Friday there is a chance that a National Basketball Association franchise, possibly the Boston Celtics, will be coming to New Jersey.

Werblin, chairman of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority, said that he has talked with NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy about the prospects for moving the Celtics to the proposed new sports complex in the Hackensack Meadowlands.

Werblin said there have not been any direct negotiations with Celtics' management.

The Celtics team is the only franchise "floating around," Werblin said. But he added that Kennedy expressed an interest in putting another team, perhaps a new franchise, in New Jersey if the Celtics prove to be unavailable.

Werblin is former owner of the New York Jets' football team.

Kennedy was on vacation and unavailable for comment.

The management of the Boston Celtics was recently reported to be considering a move to San Diego, Calif.

But the owners of the team, Irving H. Levin and Harold Lipton, said they had assured General Manager Red Auerbach that they would not take the Celtics out of Boston.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Don Sutton hurled a four-hitter, Frank Robinson hit a three-run homer and Bill Russell belted a solo shot as the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 6-1 Friday night.

Sutton, who entered the game with an earned run average of 0.42 and allowed Montreal only one hit in 10 innings in his last start, raised his record to 5-0.

Robinson connected off loser Dick Selma, 1-3, for his third home run of the year following singles by Bill Buckner and Willie Davis in the fifth inning.

The Dodgers took a 1-0 lead in the second when Billy Grabarkewitz singled, moved up on a single by Bobby Valentine.

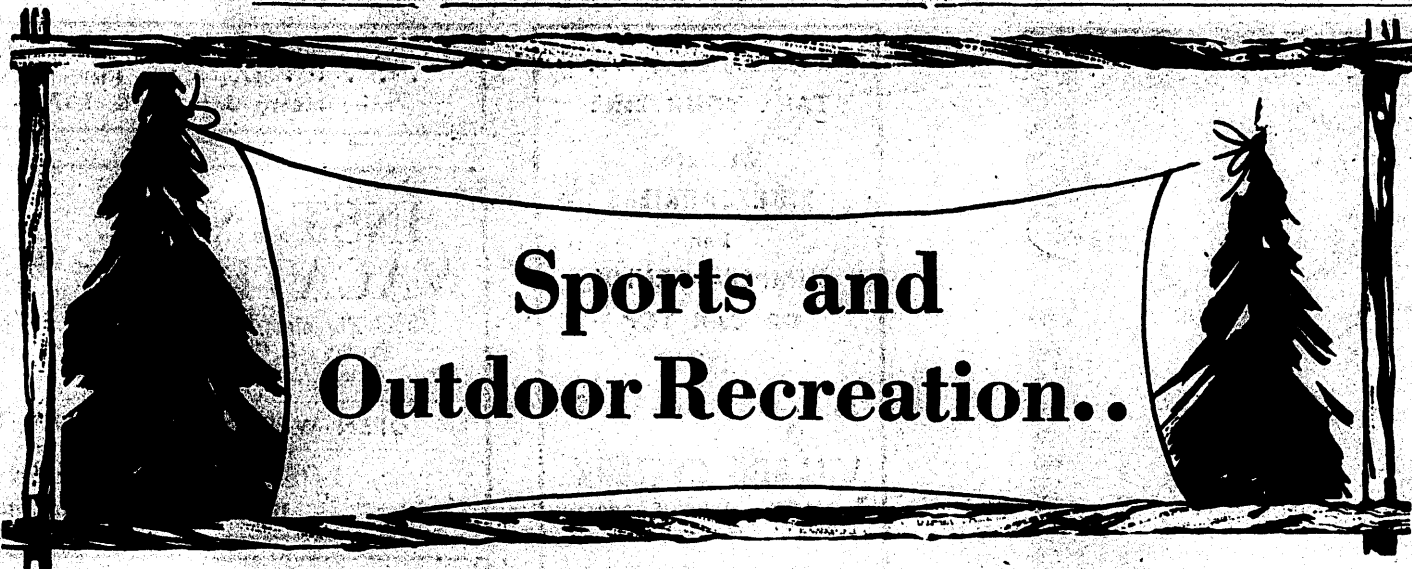

Russell connected for his third home run of the season in the sixth off reliever Ken Reynolds.

Sutton had a two-hitter and a string of 31 scoreless innings until the Phillies scored in the ninth on Tim McCarron's infield hit and Greg Luzinski's double.

Lake Jacksonville RECORD??

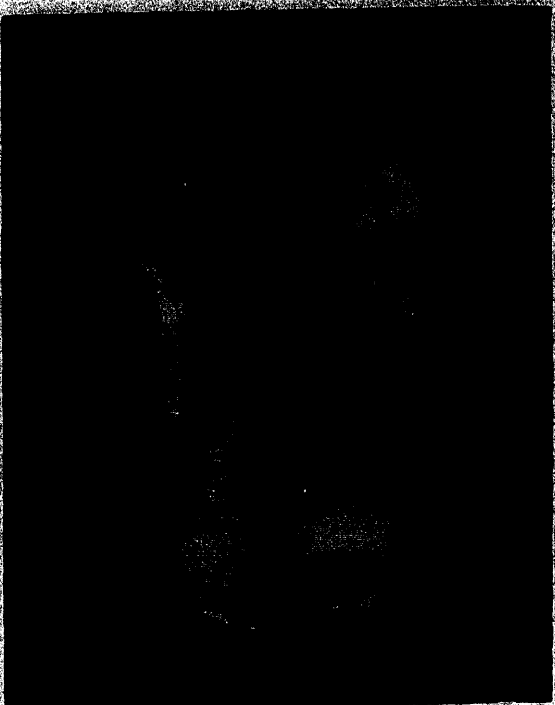

By JIM HALL

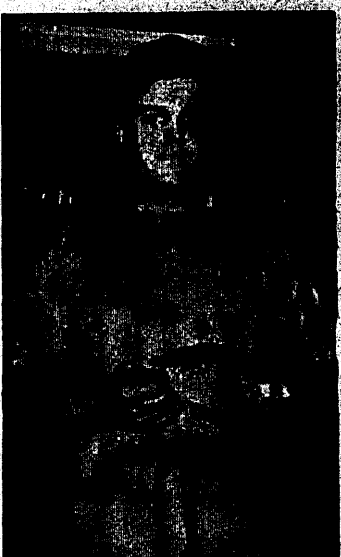

Sgt. Rodney Mikel of the Illinois State Police is shown with a nine pound 12½ oz. Bass which he caught on Thursday, April 10th at approximately 11:10 a.m., while fishing at Lake Jacksonville. Mikel's fish was 23½ inches long and had a girth of 21½ inches. Sgt. Mikel was fishing on the south side of the lake, across from the boat docks, at the mouth of the first westerly cove. He was using a 7½" Black plastic Flaptail worm. At the present time this is the record Bass for the year in the Ill State Conservation Dept. fish contest. It also may prove to be a record bass for Lake Jacksonville. Sorry . . . I couldn't get the picture and information any sooner, because Sgt. Mikel took the bass directly home to Springfield.

Bass Boats At Lake Monroe

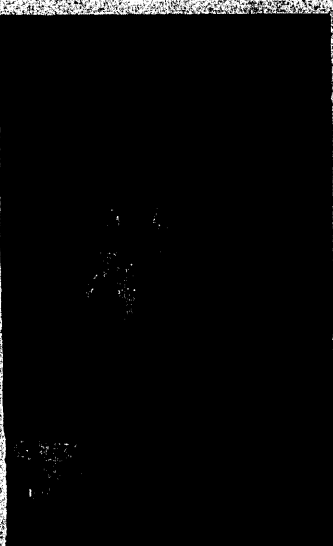

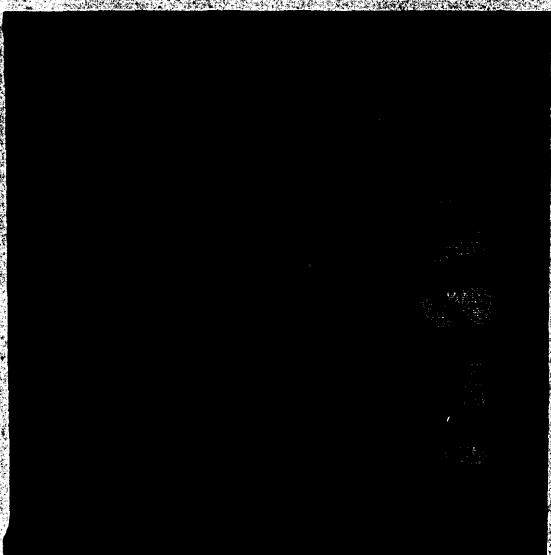

Bill Were is shown with 2 real big Bluegill (15 oz.) caught in an area farm pond.

Jim Lowe with a 14 oz. arm pond Bluegill.

Ben Scudder again with some real nice Crappie.

Lake Jacksonville LUNKER BASS

By Jim Hall

bass fishermen entered; 267 boats took off (with 100 taking off at a time) three minutes apart. Bob and I were officials at the tournament. We both expected to see a confused mess, but it was well organized and went very smoothly. Most people in this area have never heard of a bass tournament, but there are becoming more and more tournaments all around the country, with up to $50,000 prize money in some tournaments. Some fellows are now fishing for a living, just like golfers play golf for a living. Bob and I fished some and caught several bass up to four pounds. Most of the bass were in the one pound to two pounds class.

Lake Monroe near Bloomington, Indiana, where the tournament was held, is a nice lake with half of the lake for skiers and half of the lake has an idle zone for fishermen; and believe me, they obey the rules. Something could be said for Lake Jacksonville. There is plenty of room for both skiers and fishermen, but it seems that some speed boaters don't have respect for fishermen for they drive right into the coves wide open and the coves are suppose to be idle zones; also the east end of the lake is a no-wake zone, and I have been fishing several times when speed boats plow right on through. I like to fish and I like to ski, but it should be done in the respective places.

Single spins and plastic worms have been the best lures lately. Jig and eel are always good for big fish.

Bill Ware caught a couple of nice blue gills in a local farm pond weighing up to 15 ounces. Jim Lowe caught a 14-ounce blue gill on a worm in a local farm pond. Robert Rawlins caught a catfish on a night-crawler — five pounds, nine ounces — in a local farm pond. John Winger and Orville Winger caught carp up to 13 1/2 pounds at White Oaks on night-

(Turn To Page Four)

Last Thursday evening I had the privilege of fishing with Charlie Brown and his lovely wife Charlotte. We were fishing the north coves at Lake Jacksonville. I caught this 6 lb. 10 oz. Lunker Bass on a Lazy Ike lure I purchased from Bud Mohnen at Osco Drugs. This lunker was a fighter but after three tries Charlie Brown got him into the net. Thanks again Charlie for helping me land my first real big lunker bass.

"Bass Man" Bob Hunt is shown with Lake Jacksonville Largemouth Bass. The largest weighed 5 lbs. Bob was keeping Jim Hall busy with the net late last Saturday afternoon. These bass came out of a cove on the north side of Lake Jacksonville.

 Bill Prather and William Van Hynning were using Mepps spinners and caught eight nice bass at Lake Jacksonville. Bob Hunt caught four bass up to five pounds on single spins at Lake Jacksonville. Jim Hall caught a big six-pound 10-ounce bass last Thursday evening at Lake Jacksonville while fishing with Charlie Brown. Jim works for the Journal Courier newspaper and puts this section together each week. You can write or call him at the Journal Courier. Ben Scudder caught a real nice stringer of crappie on Buckaroo Bucktails at Otter Lake.

Tax Freedom Day?

By CARLTON SMITH

If you think "doing your taxes" to meet the April 15 deadline took a lot of time, you have no idea how bad it really is. It takes the average American 117 days to get his tax payments out of the way. That is, he has to work 117 days this year, to earn enough to pay his 1972 federal, state and local taxes, according to the Tax Foundation. So if he worked straight through—Saturdays, Sundays and holidays—he'd have his taxes off his back when he staggered home after work on April 26.

It would therefore be fitting to declare April 27 of this year Tax Freedom Day, thought the Tax Foundation, a private, non-profit research organization. No holiday, though, because Melvin Henrod, average American, has all the rest of his time committed to pay for the necessities of life and a few of the amenities.

Putting it on a daily basis, the Tax Foundation calculates Melvin's eight-hour working day divides up as follows to pay for the things that keep body and soul together in the Henrod family:

	Hrs. Min.
Taxes	2 34
Food and Beverages	1 2
Housing	1 3
Transportation	40
Clothing	26
Medical	23
Recreation	19
All other	1 33

You will notice that this adds up to eight hours of solid working time, with no allowance for coffee breaks, lunch or going down the hall to comb his hair. This may explain why Melvin, the all-American taxpayer, generally looks tired, undernourished and somewhat pained.

As the foundation points out, more of Melvin's working day goes to paying off the tax collectors than for buying the family's food, clothing and shelter. This could explain why Melvin's collar is frayed, and why the roof leaks.

Notice, also, that the tax collectors get eight times as much of Melvin's pay as the family

Arithmetic tells us that two hours and 34 minutes, as a portion of an eight-hour day, comes to 32 per cent. The fact that he spends roughly one-third of each working day earning enough money to pay his taxes may explain why Melvin gets red in the face and starts waving his arms around when you mention the word "taxes."

It is a condition aggravated by the recent disclosures that 112 citizens enjoying annual incomes of more than $200,000 paid no federal income tax in 1970—the latest tally of "zero taxpayers."

It seems unpatriotic to Melvin to get all worked up about this. Somebody has to provide all the money the government needs to spend, and if these people are excused from paying taxes why, then, Melvin and all the other average Americans just have to dig a little deeper—right?

There were 779 local and long distance telephone calls for each man, woman and child in the United States in 1970.

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the hangups that makes inflation intolerable for Americans and Canadians is that they consider it a moral issue. Inflation is sin, they feel, and conscientious people don't like to live in sin.

The solution, it is suggested, might be to learn to live with inflation rather than to continue to battle it head-in—to break the bonds of Anglo-American morality and try a little Latin philosophy.

Let us, for example, take a tip from Brazil. Now there's a country that knows inflation, its 92 per cent rate as recently as 1964 making puny by comparison our present 4 or 5 per cent.

In the final analysis, the question is posed, isn't it better to live with inflation than to have high unemployment and compulsory controls? Isn't it merely a choice of the lesser evil?

These are some of the ideas that a professor of international business presented to a seminar on inflation at the University of Toronto School of Business this week.

The professor, Stefan H. Robock of Columbia University, is completely serious on all points and has tried to persuade the Nixon administration to listen. Instead, it has been "extremely consistent" in ignoring him.

In presenting his argument, which he immediately concedes is not a new one, Robock asks that we list the reasons for thinking inflation is harmful. And to aid us, he provides this checklist:

It discourages private savings, adds to a balance of payments deficit, leads to economic inefficiency and social injustice, distorts and unbalances the investment structure.

But, he asks, do harmful results have to occur? Why not instead try to neutralize the potentially harmful effects? But how?

Says Robock, a variety of neutralizing techniques exist, such as index-linked loans which provide for readjustment in the amount of the loan on the basis of changes in prices.

"Many countries, such as Israel, Brazil, Chile and Uruguay have discovered the technique of readjustable mortgages, which are to be repaid in currency of equal purchasing power."

Robock wouldn't limit his adjustments to mortgages only. All payments in the entire economy would be linked to a price index, such as the cost of living.

In Brazil, where such a plan is in effect, the annual rate of inflation peaked at 92 per cent in 1964 but still averages 20 to 25 per cent. But that nation also has grown by 9 to 11 per cent a year during the past four years, a growth rate that probably exceeds that of any other nation.

In principle, he adds, "no one is expected to be in a worse position because of the loss in purchasing power over time."

"The principle of inflationary correction has been applied to government bonds, long-term mortgages, public utility rates, insurance, pensions, savings deposits, legal judgments for damages and minimum wage rates."

BEANS, WHEAT FUTURES HIGHER

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat prices jumped more than a cent a bushel in early trading on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday and as the trade absorbed the demand prices weakened slightly.

Soybeans followed a different course, opening fractionally higher and gaining impetus as the trading continued.

The strength in wheat appeared to be based on the USDA estimate released Thursday night indicating a crop of 1.149 billion bushels. That was somewhat below the trade expectations.

The strength in soybeans apparently was based on expectations of trade with Russia now that the summit conference appeared to be still on.

Corn and oats failed to derive any strength from wheat and soybeans and corn prices were as much as a cent lower.

Soybean oil and meal registered modest gains reflecting the strength in the parent crop.

Ice brokers were irregularly higher and lower within a small range.

After about an hour, wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel higher, May 1.82 1/4; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, May 1.22 1/4; oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, May 71 1/2 cents and soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May 34 1/2.

Illinois Power Co. Session At Ill. Concludes Today

Rate Hike Rejected

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Commerce Commission rejected Friday a proposal for a general rate increase by the Illinois Power Co.

The ICC said the increase requested June 18, 1971 by the company would be "unjust and unreasonable."

Wendell Kelley, IPC president, issued a statement calling the decision "shocking."

Kelley said an appeal is being considered. In any case, he said, the case will be resubmitted to the commission soon.

"The decision is inconsistent with increases granted other utilities in Illinois and across the country to help them overcome rising costs. The guidelines of the federal price board

Lawn Concert At I.C. Sunday Open To Public

Final concert of the year for Illinois College music groups, a band concert will be presented free to the public on the lawn in front of Rammekamp Chapel at 4 p.m. Sunday. In case of bad weather, the program will be presented in the chapel.

Musicians of all ages are invited to bring lawn chairs or blankets to use on the lawn for the old-fashioned, informal concert. The college also will provide chairs for those who do not wish to bring their own.

"This will be a look back with fondness to those once-standard Sunday afternoon band concerts on the town green," said director John P. Sorenson, associate professor of music and English.

"If you're a member of the 30-plus generation, you probably have experienced just such a concert. If you're younger, the I.C. band is ready to provide you with a new experience."

The program will include a combination of "standard" numbers, such as Light Cavalry Overture and Trumpet Voluntary, and the pops type such as highlights from Fiddler on the Roof and Tribute to Bacharach and David.

One of the features will be a clarinet quartet, composed of Janette Runkel of Jacksonville, Sherry Williams of Auburn, Diane Janssen of Augusta, and Kathy Whiteside of Normal.

would have permitted an increase," Kelley said.

The commission added that the rates and tariffs presently in effect produce operating income of $40.6 million for IPC. The ICC said this amount "provides a rate of return in excess of 7 per cent on the fair value of the company's used and useful electric plant."

Rates now in effect shall continue in effect according to the ICC order.

IPC's requested rate increase would have provided approximately $21,562,000 in additional revenues. The company cited, in its claim for higher rates, the magnitude of required additions to its electric utility plant, increases in interest costs, wages and other expenses.

Illinois Power Co. provide gas and electric service to three areas in Illinois aggregating approximately 15,000 square miles.

A hearing was held Aug. 12 in Springfield and appearances were entered by counsel on behalf of Belleville, Granite City, East Alton, South Roxana, Gallesburg, Kewanee and Bloomington.

Friday Circuit Court Fines Two, Exonerates Two

Two defendants were fined on charges of illegal transportation of liquor Friday afternoon in Morgan county circuit court. The charges stemmed from separate arrests by city police.

Gary L. Westrope, 25, of 1227 Center St., entered a plea of guilty to illegal transportation of liquor and was fined $100 and $10 court costs.

Presiding Judge Gordon Seator accepted a guilty plea from Michael F. Yates, 18, of Troy, route one, to a charge of illegal transportation of liquor and assessed a fine of $100 and $10 court costs.

James R. Stambaugh, 20, of Browning appeared before court for a trial without jury. He had earlier entered an innocent plea to a charge of driving too fast for conditions and had requested a bench trial. He was charged by State Trooper J. W. Millik following a one car accident on U.S. 36 1/4 mile west of Orleans.

Stambaugh told the court that he was driving to Springfield at the time of the accident, maintaining a speed of about 50 m.p.h. due to the rainy weather and wet pavement. After passing another car, he was returning to the right side of the highway when he hit a puddle of water. He lost control of the vehicle and slid off the right side into a sign post.

Testifying for the State, Trooper Millik told the court he arrived at the scene after the accident had occurred. Judging from the damaged post and vehicle, he believed the defendant had apparently been driving too fast for conditions.

The court found the defendant innocent of the charge.

James A. Olive, 1008 West State St., appeared before the court for ruling on his not guilty plea to a charge of shoplifting. After reviewing testimony by the State and the defendant, Judge Seator found him not guilty.

Blair Invites Walker To Tell Budget Cut Plan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Dan Walker, Democratic nominee for governor, said Friday he would testify to lawmakers on how to cut fat from the state budget if he were provided with official work papers.

House Speaker W. Robert Blair invited Walker to testify before the House appropriations committee on how to cut $500 million from Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's $7.4 billion budget for fiscal 1973.

Blair, R-Park Forest, and Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, said in a news conference Walker has talked of his ability to cut $500 million.

"If he can't substantiate his statement," Blair said, "he ought to withdraw it."

"We want to give him an opportunity to give us some specific recommendations on where savings can be made without jeopardizing services to the people."

When Blair was asked if he had consulted about his invitation with Ogilvie, Walker's Republican opponent in the November election, Blair said:

"This is principally a legislative consideration. The governor did his part when he submitted his budget with his expertise."

In his reply, Walker accepted if he were provided with preliminary work papers dealing with the budget. He asked for papers of the code departments, bureau of the budget, budgetary commission and the appropriations committee staff.

"If Gov. Ogilvie will supply me with the work papers that lie behind the budget, I will be delighted to appear before that committee," Walker said.

CORRECTION

It was erroneously reported in Friday's Journal and Friday's Courier that Glenn Davis was the driver of an eastbound car involved in a collision Thursday at Morton and Clay avenues.

Davis' car was northbound. He was ticketed for having no drivers license and not for running a red light as reported.

Bakalis To Resist Repaying U.S. Funds

CHICAGO (AP) — Illinois legislation—drop the whole thing.

The government said an audit of Illinois expenditures for the three school years involved beginning in 1965 disclosed "unjustified retroactive salary increases; unauthorized or unwarranted overtime payments; supplanting of state and local funds and administrative costs unrelated to Title I activities."

Disallowed was $1.1 million spent by the Chicago Board of Education for purchase of 100 mobile classrooms because "local funds for these classrooms were provided in the board's supplemental budget and in a budget transfer authorized by the board on Nov. 24, 1965."

Included in $120,101 allegedly used to supplant rather than supplement local school spending was $60,735 at Rockford public schools, $56,138 in Chicago schools and $3,228 in Marshall Community Unit School District No. C-2.

Repayment is sought for $944,977 in retroactive salaries for Chicago teachers, $412,486 in overtime to principals, $604,850 in overtime to custodians such as janitors, firemen and engineers, and $65,546 for overtime to school clerks.

This is charged to Title I, the government said, except for $1.1 million spent "to motivate teachers to accept teaching positions in the inner city of Chicago."

The audit said the state mis-spent $83,325 for four mobile vocational guidance units, $68,022 in salaries and $33,987 for office equipment.

It said that in each case the expenditures were not related to Title I activities and many of the costs would have been borne by the state or local school districts anyway.

Roman Pucinski, Democratic nominee for U.S. senator, said last week that Illinois would be ordered to repay nearly $4 million in educational funding.

In response, Sen. Charles H. Percy, seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, said "I would resist very strenuously" in paying back the money.

"We simply don't have it."

"I object," he said, "I believe that Mr. Well has the right to an attorney and I'm afraid that what we're about to do constitutes a star chamber proceeding."

"If he needs an attorney and requests this right," Republican Majority Leader Henry J. Hyde of Chicago replied, "I'll certainly appoint you to do the job."

Find Defendant Guilty On DUI Charge Friday

A Jacksonville man was found guilty on driving while under the influence of alcohol and illegal transportation of liquor by Judge Gordon Seator Friday morning following a bench trial in circuit court.

After being found guilty by the court following presentation of witnesses by the state, he was ordered to pay fines of $500 and $10 costs on the DUI count and $50 and $10 costs on the illegal transportation charge.

William Rickett, of Crete pleaded guilty to no valid registration and was fined $50 and $10 costs.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House got into an uproar Friday over charges that an education lobby is plying lawmakers with "offers of money, staff assistance and other support in return for votes."

In a 30-minute debate, the House transformed itself into a committee, invited the lobbyist who made the charge to explain it, immediately threatened to subpoena him if he refused, offered to appoint one of the representatives as his lawyer and, finally, called off the whole thing.

The commotion started when the Illinois Federation of Teachers newsletter appeared on representatives' desks. It stated that the Illinois Education Association was offering money in return for favorable votes on two bills.

Each of the bills would set up complex negotiating procedures for governmental employees, such as teachers, and would bar some publicly employed workers from striking.

The newsletter is edited by Oscar Well, a lobbyist for the IFT.

"I don't ever want to see him come before this legislature as a lobbyist again unless he explains this," Democratic leader Clyde L. Choate of Anna declared. "He has impugned the integrity of teachers across this state."

Tension in the house climbed when Well, apparently unaware of the source of the controversy, strolled into the visitors' gallery.

He told newsmen who crowded around him that he wished to make no immediate statement but added that campaign contributions and "other types of aid" often are offered to legislators in return for votes.

Although Choate and other representatives said that the bargaining bill should be passed by the House immediately in reprisal for Well's charge, they relented when pro-labor forces fought against the measure.

"Let's not throw the baby out with the bathwater," Rep. Thomas A. Hanahan, D-McHenry, said. "This is a bad bill opposed by the AFL-CIO and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters."

As Well began the long walk from the gallery to the House floor, where "a committee of the whole House" was waiting for his explanation, Rep. Victor Arrigo, D-Chicago, arose.

"I object," he said, "I believe that Mr. Well has the right to an attorney and I'm afraid that what we're about to do constitutes a star chamber proceeding."

"If he needs an attorney and requests this right," Republican Majority Leader Henry J. Hyde of Chicago replied, "I'll certainly appoint you to do the job."

But before Well reached the rostrum the House adjourned the hearing until Monday.

The Illinois Education Association issued a statement in Chicago blasting the IFT's charge of "political bribery."

Dr. Curtis Plott, executive secretary of the IEA, claimed the charges represent "an attempt to sell out all the teachers of Illinois who continue to work for passage of collective bargaining legislation."

Plott said the IFT's actions "are an insult to every legislator and public official in Illinois" and are "The last gasp of a beaten organization."

He indicated that the bargaining legislation would virtually put the IFT out of business saying that outside of Chicago, the IFT is a "paper tiger."

"Excluding the city (Chicago) the IFT has less than 10,000 members against IEA's 60,000," Plott said.

In answering IFT's charges, Plott said the IEA has "An independent political action arm... raising funds to support candidates who support educational legislation."

Plott said the IEA's political action arm "is a matter of public record and is no different than dozens of other statewide organizations who attempt to support candidates who agree with their particular point of view."

He labeled the IFT's attempt "to condemn any organization for endorsing and supporting candidates" as the "height of hypocrisy." He said the move was "done solely to block legislation that stands a good chance of passage."
